A Difference of Opinion.
The fat man is sure he has paid his fare to the conductor. He is positive on this point, because he had only a nickel, and it has passed from his possession.

The conductor is also positive, with no actual proof therefor, that the fat man has not contributed his mite to swell the coffers of the corporation. He demands the fare.

The fat man for obvious reasons refuses. He announces in a blast of rage that he'll sue the conductor and the corporation elsewhere before he yields.

The other passengers are wild with joy. They have no particular love for the corporation, they do not know the fat man, and if they met the conductor again they would not look at him. Passengers seldom do. They are loyal

The White House Mail Box.
"An amusing thing that we frequent ly see at the White House," said one of the attaches there, "is the mailing of letters in the White House letter box by visitors to the city. All visitors to Washington go to the executive mansion, and many of them notice the letter box in the vestibule just before entering the east room. Some of them decide to mail letters there, believing that these letters will contain the stamp of the White House. Of course it would be a great thing for a distant relative to receive a letter postmarked at the White House.

"The other day an intelligent looking woman, accompanied by several grown daughters, asked me to lend her a pencil. I heard her say, 'Won't it be lovely to mail them a letter from here and let them see that we've been to the president's home?' She proceeded to write for some time, secured an envelope, addressed it and then proudly dropped the epistle in our letter box. She went off with a radiant face. She was sure that all her neighbors and friends for miles around would bear of that letter mailed from the White House, and she would be besieged with inquiries on her return. She'll learn her mistake. The letter box here does not differ in any way from those on the streets."—Washington Star.

The Iceland Dinner.
In Iceland the native's dinner usually consists of dried fish and butter. The fish is ling or cod, which, when caught, is split open and then hung on the lines by the seashore to dry in the cold winds and hot sun. When thus preserved, they will keep for years, being as hard as the nether millstone. When wanted for dinner, the fish is taken from an ordinary litter of Chester Whites, just after being weaned. For six months the Professor labored with them before he could get any evidence of their intelligence. They have been so trained that they go through with an act that is little short of marvelous. Moxie, a high diving dog, is another feature of Prof. Rice's aggregation.

ELKS' CARNIVAL.

The free attractions for the second week will include Paul Tusani, the high diver, who jumps forward and backward from a lofty pedestal to a trapeze. Every night at 7:30 o'clock there is a splendid display of fireworks including several unusually fine set pieces. This is in charge of Fizzoni Brothers.

THE CASINO.

Artists who Will Amuse and Entertain Crowds.

An unusually strong bill is presented at the casino. The program for this week is as follows: Sharp and Flat, black face comedians, in a musical act, Prof. Cain's wonderful troupe of trained dogs, here the week beginning Aug. 13, Brothers Lorber, comedy bar act, Natt and Libby Comstock, champion slack wire and roman rings artists, and three acts from Sapho, illustrated by the Kinograph.

Artists engaged for next week are: Ameta, illuminated fire dancer, Burton and Brooks, XXth Century Comedians, the Mathieus, now at Masonic Temple, Chicago, juggler, Fred Welcome and Pearl Forepaugh, high class acrobatic and trapeze act, Clara Wagner, illustrated song, Boer war scenes, illustrated with Kinograph.

ADMISSION

Nominal Fee Charged at Gate and In Midway.

General admission to the grounds is 10 cents. An additional 10 cents is charged for the German Village. Regular prices prevail at the casino.

The steamers have been chartered by the Elks. Regular trips will be made around the lake. Foster's band will furnish music every day.

The total cost of the carnival will exceed $7,000. About $800 will be cleared on the programs. Aside from this all receipts must come from the fair itself.

COMMITTEES

Having Charge of the Exposition and Carnival.

The members of the executive committee have been untiring in arranging the many details of the carnival. The members of this committee are: T. S. Pardee, chairman; A. J. Rowley, treasurer; Jacob Pfeiffer, secretary; William Hiltabiddle and Edward Shaw.

The chairman of the various other committees are: William Hiltabiddle, advertising; A. M. Cox and W. M. Neel, attractions; L. K. Stone, decorations; L. S. Pardee, buildings; Geo. L. Stewart, boats; L. K. Stone, uniforms; Jacob Pfeiffer, German Village.

Twenty special police in charge of Officer Jean Murray, patrol the grounds night and day. All the buildings are equipped with chemical hand fire extinguishers.

There is a Class of People.

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 4c a can. Children may drink it with great benefit. 10c and 25c per package. Try it. ## OHIO STATE FAIR.

Preparations Completed For a Mammoth Exposition.

BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED.

Grand Panorama of Perfection and Feast of Enjoyment.

SEPTEMBER 3 TO 7 ARE THE DATES.

How to Make the Rounds and See All the Sights Conveniently in the Least Time—Attractions Day and Night Include Contests on Race Track.

An unprecedented interest in Ohio's Fair and Industrial Exposition has been aroused throughout every section of the State, even the remotest counties from Columbus are making preparations for increased representation and large attendance. The coming exhibition, September 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, will be the great industrial event of the year that will combine in its many buildings and departments, classified displays illustrating the height of agricultural production, the acme in live stock and breeding and training, the pinnacle of invention, machinery and manufactures, the zenith of art and science and the cream of household advancement and ornamentation. A galaxy of beauty and utility, rounded out in one grand panorama of perfection and feast of enjoyment.

All this has been made possible by the facilities afforded in the magnificent exposition buildings with which the beautiful park grounds are provided; these buildings rising in massive proportions amidst nature and the embellishments of landscape art so conspicuous on every hand. The buildings are located with a view to convenience and beauty of appearance and in these respects the greatest success has been attained, while their exhibition capacity and arrangement for display are such as to present every class of exhibits in the best possible form for intelligent examination and comparative study.

In the general exhibition of 1900, an industrial exposition above anything anticipated will be realized and enjoyed by the people who attend. There will be no weak places, or events without special interest, and the aim of the management will be to make every department a feature to attract wide interest on the opening of the gates and continue and increase throughout every day and night of the exposition. The arrangement of special programs will be such as to make every day equal in exhibits, entertainment and extraordinary attractions, so there need be no particular choice of days in attending.

All Ready For Opening Day. All the various buildings, exhibits and displays will be ready for inspection on the opening day, and as the visitor enters the grounds he will be amazed at the expanse of the elegant park and with the number and massiveness of the exposition buildings, flying hundreds of gay colors and filled to completion with the best products of field, stable, orchard, garden and shops and of the studio and the household.

Passing in through the main entrance, the visitor must pause a moment to map out a course for sight-seeing. Diverging from the point of entrance to the right and to the left, are clean graveled walks and roadways leading to the several buildings. A short distance from the entrance lies a miniature lake with the park immediately surrounding studded with clumps of trees and ornamental shrubbery, furnishing delightfully cool and shaded retreats, with the places made sweet and refreshing from the spicy odors of the great variety of blooming growth. The sparkling waters of the lake ripples in the sunlight, presenting a picture of loveliness beyond the skill of pen to describe or brush to portray. From this point of view, the distribution and stateliness of the exposition buildings are most striking. Perhaps the most conspicuous is the group of five mammoth Central Buildings, standing upon a slight elevation and accessible by any of the roads interspersing the grounds. Directly in front of this group of buildings, standing out upon the green sward, is the imposing Grant Memorial Building, within which is the modest cabin in which the illustrious soldier was born. At each of the four corners is planted a cannon, with mouth pointed out, as symbolic of security and protection to the historic relic cared for.

The road to the left leads directly to the great Live Stock Buildings, but to make a circuit of the grounds and all the buildings, the road to the right is taken, when one passes, first the Art Building, a brick, fire-proof structure in which will be found skill with brush, pencil, chisel and camera and where hours could be spent in enjoying the works of art presented. A little further along and to the left is the Woman's Building, doors and galleries filled with the handwork of women in all that pertains to stately and household decorative art; one of the most attractive places, especially to the ladies. Passing on to the right is the Administration Building, where the business of the Exposition is transacted, a busy place during the days and nights of the fair
